

CALIBRE and Comcast Media Center Enter into Preferred Partnership Agreement

Alexandria, Virginia, July 2009 – CALIBRE Systems, Inc. and Comcast Media Center announced that they have entered into an exclusive agreement under which CALIBRE can offer its customers the TrueDelivery® technology. TrueDelivery is a software-based Asset Distribution System for moving large, high-value digital files efficiently, securely, and optimally across any network. TrueDelivery provides a best-in-class infrastructure that leverages any private or public network. TrueDelivery enables fast and reliable delivery, thus enhancing collaboration of digital assets throughout a global value chain. CALIBRE has been actively using the TrueDelivery platform for a number of years in support of its Integrated Logistics Analysis Program (ILAP) with the U.S. Army.

“We are excited about this opportunity to share the TrueDelivery platform solution with other Federal customers who have stringent requirements for on-time delivery of large data sets across the Internet,” said Joe Martore, CALIBRE Executive Vice President & Chief Operations Officer. “As the demand for large files, such as high-resolution video, grows across the Federal Government, we believe our customers will see this as the right solution at the right time.”

“TrueDelivery is the foundation which provides the stability, security, and time-tested technology that our customers expect from us,” said Gary Traver, Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer for Comcast Media Center. “We are pleased to be able to provide CALIBRE with a reliable solution for the secure delivery of digital assets of all types across any network.”
